

Better aftercare for you and your clients.

Let's face it - most aftercare doesn't work. It's too expensive, too time consuming and badly needs an upgrade. At REBOOT Recovery, we know you want to help people experience lasting healing.

But to do that, you need a world class aftercare solution. That's where we come in.

The Aftercare Problem

We get it because we struggled with aftercare ourselves for more than ten years. We invested in phone-based followup systems and had people ignore our calls or tell us what they think we wanted to hear. We sent books home with people that ended up in the trash. Totally frustrating!

We knew there had to be a way that clients could maintain the momentum they gained during our programs without adding more manual check-ins.

Denying care + adding to our growing wait list.
